PREPARE FOR COOLER WEATHER WITH THESE HOME HACKS

These creative ideas will save you time and money

Now that the back-to-school rush is decreasing, it's a good time to address maintenance needs around the home before the cold weather moves in permanently. Here are a few hacks that can help with your last-minute cleaning and maintenance.

Chipping In

If you have chips in your windows but can't yet afford replacement, nail polish can provide a good temporary fix. Use clear nail polish to fill in the chip and you will hardly be able to tell the difference.

Full of Hot Air

Outdoors, an air compressor can be a great way to clean those hard-to-reach places on your window frames and house exterior. Just like using compressed air to clean a computer, this can be a great shortcut.

Mind the Gaps

The least insulated parts of your wall are the outlets and light switches. Install a foam pad behind them to avoid losing heat when the winter weather kicks in.

Get Out of the Gutter

Fall is the most important time to clean your gutters, unclogging and removing leaves and debris to ensure proper drainage before the snow. This year consider installing gutter protection to minimize this task in the future.

Stick it to the Lawn

Here's a handy tip as you complete your end of season lawnmower cleaning and maintenance. Before you store your mower, apply WD40 or cooking spray to the clean blades. This will help keep the cut grass from sticking to the blades, lessening this cleaning task and promoting more efficient use in the future.

Cozy Up

Keep as snug as a bug in a rug with some attention to your insulation. Add clear insulation to the inside of your windows to keep in the heat and cut a pool noodle for use as an inexpensive draft guard at the bottom of doors.
